The highlighted rows are sample episodes or online lessons, while those in-betweens are advocacy and information materials that are inserted to mimic commercial advertisements that may later on be considered in the broadcasting schedule.

The Regions and Divisions are enjoined to test broadcast these episodes with their partner local Cable TV, TV and Radio stations following the same schedules.

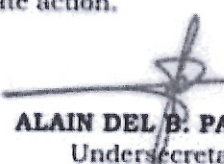

Ready-to-broadcast materials containing the above video and audio lectures can be downloaded at <https://bit.ly/DepEdVALectures> on 10 August 2020, Monday.

The video and audio lectures will be published at the DepEd Commons (<https://commons.deped.gov.ph>) on 10 August 2020 in compressed formats that can be viewed using laptops, tablets, and/or cellphones.

Ready to print Self-Learning Modules (SLMs) and Electronic Self Learning Modules (e-SLMs) covering the first week of classes on 24-28 August 2020 will also be published in the DepEd Commons.

Simulations and dry runs for Blended Learning may now be undertaken by combining the utilization of SLM printouts, DepEd Commons materials (e-SLMS, TV and Radio Episodes, DLMS, etc.), and broadcasted TV and Radio episodes. The combination of some or all of these materials already made available will provide a more accurate and concrete feel of ground situation, readiness and acceptability of blended learning.

For immediate dissemination and appropriate action.

ALAIN DEL B. PASCUA
 Undersecretary
