Fundamentals of Strategic Planning and Execution Training Workshop (via ZOOM) - Sept 2, 9 and 16, 2023

It is a fact that a success of any organization over the long run depends on strategic planning. But there are many misconceptions about it, and it's frequently misconstrued. Here are a few of the most typical:

1. It provides a remedy to every issue. Some believe that strategic planning is the panacea for all organizational problems. But in actuality, it serves as a roadmap to drive the organization towards its targeted objectives. Both execution and operational effectiveness are critical.
2. Only top management may use it. While the C-suite/top management/directors is undoubtedly involved, all organizational levels must contribute to strategic planning. Employees frequently offer important viewpoints and insights that could otherwise go unnoticed.
3. Quick outcomes: Planning strategically requires a long-term strategy. It might not produce outcomes right away. It's important to exercise patience and persistence.
4. Accurately forecasting the future: Some people think that strategic planning can forecast the future. However, no one can accurately foresee the future. generating plans that are adaptable enough to change to whatever occurs is the goal of strategic planning, which involves generating informed assumptions about what the future may bring.
5. One-time event: Strategic planning is frequently misunderstood as something you only do once and then ignore. In actuality, it's a continuous process that demands regular review and improvement based on shifting business circumstances.

Avoid these misconceptions, join our online workshop.

98.6% of the participants who attended our Data Visualization using Spreadsheet and Fundamentals of Data Management using Spreadsheet said that the skills they acquired are helpful in their daily tasks in their organizations. This is a 22.5-hour workshop (8:30am to 4:00pm) via ZOOM.
