Subject: Invitation for All Junior and Senior High School Students, Teachers, and Employees of the Division to Visit the Studios in the Bohol Art Route

Dear Dr. Bongalos:

Warm greetings from the Bohol Art and Cultural Heritage Council. As Chairman of its Committee on Visual Arts, I respectfully invite all junior and senior high school students, teachers, and employees under the Tagbilaran City Division to experience the Bohol Art Route—a free and enriching opportunity to visit the working studios of Bohol’s most celebrated visual artists.

This initiative opens direct access to the creative spaces of artists whose works have gained national and international recognition. Studio visits are by appointment and can accommodate a maximum of 15 individuals per batch, ensuring meaningful interaction and safe, focused engagement. These visits may serve as field trips for art appreciation, or simply as informal group visits even without a formal school-related requirement.

The featured artists include:

- Henri Cainglet (Valencia): A pioneer in experimental multimedia and the first Filipino to hold a solo show at the National Museum of Singapore.
- Lucell Larawan: Multimedia artist, finalist in international art competitions, and known for integrating string, wood, and nails in his work to convey themes of rootedness and longing.
- Geovanni Abing (Tagbilaran): Collage artist and international residency grantee in Barcelona, winner of the Don Papa Rum Art Competition.
- Glenn Lumantao: Known for his Moonlight Sonata series and advocacy in mentoring young talents.
- Pedro Angco Jr. (Bohol Bee Farm): Environmental artist using ocean debris and natural materials, recognized in national art competitions.
- Elvin Perocho Vitor: Awarded The Outstanding Boholano (TOBAW) and a portraitist with shows in Milan, Bangkok, and Bohol.

To assist visitors, a QR code is available that links to:

- Studio locations and maps
- Visiting hours and appointment instructions
- Key highlights of each studio

- Artists' achievements and profiles
- Mediums used and recurring themes

The Bohol Art Route draws inspiration from successful art trail models in Asia and Europe, where communities—especially students—learn from living artists and witness firsthand how art shapes identity and innovation. This is Bohol's local version of that vision, and your division is warmly invited to be part of it.

We encourage schools under your leadership to coordinate or promote visits, whether through class trips, faculty engagement, or staff learning days.

For any inquiries, you may contact me directly at lucellarawan@gmail.com.

Thank you for supporting the creative and cultural growth of our learners and educators in Tagbilaran City.

Respectfully yours,

Lucell Larawan
